2) The drawings were received on 7/11/2008. These drawings are acceptable.

3) Claims 14-29 are allowed.

The data storage device for storing digital information in a readable form comprises one or more memory elements, each memory element comprising a planar magnetic conduit capable of sustaining and propagating a magnetic domain wall formed into a continuous propagation track, wherein each continuous track is provided with at least one inversion node whereat the magnetization direction of a domain wall propagating along the conduit under action of an applied field is changed, each inversion node comprising a portion in which a direction change away from the an initial path and a subsequent direction change back to the initial path are provided in the conduit such that no direct propagation path is possible across a deviating portion, as recited in the independent claims, are not found or suggested in the prior art of record.

4) The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Form PTO-892 is attached herein.
